

Carlotta Thompson is not your average accountant. For seven years, Carlotta spent her days at the IRS, systematically ruining people's financial lives through tax audits ~ while by night saving people's financial lives from her home office through her financial coaching. In September of 2017, she had had enough and took her last breath as a dreaded IRS agent, opening the first accounting firm in the United States to offer clients tax strategy and implementation with her team of tax strategists and financial coaches.

The goal of Carlotta Thompson & Associates is to provide education so clients can feel at ease with their financial situation and no longer feel frightened by the IRS.

Topics Carlotta Has Spoken On:

- 01 How small business owners can pay the least amount of taxes legally possible and avoid an audit
- 02 How to shift from "Can I deduct this" to "How do I deduct this"
- 03 The three primary reasons small businesses fail and how small business owners and aspiring entrepreneurs can avoid that fate
- 04 What you don't know about tax strategy is costing you thousands, even tens of thousands, every year
- 05 The biggest red flags that trigger an audit and why they are likely not what you think
- 06 The main mistakes small business owners make when they hire an accountant
- 07 Why you need to invest in accounting services all 12 months a year, not just at "tax time"
